Action Information
Description: Spoke with Mike Doltry of Con Edisons ERT 212-580-8383. Originally, the dielectric fluid was missing between two substations. They had deployed crews from both stations moving towards each other and lifting manhole covers to find the material. They also deployed a boat into the Newtown Creek to monitor the water body. Telephoned Activities NY and Elizabeth Barefoot (718-354-4121) was mobilized to the scene. Further phone conversations determined that all 5100 gallons of material was released into the Newtown Creek. Con Edison contracted Clean Harbors for clean-up. Activities NY was going to collect samples of the water and material. A Command Post was established at Manhattan Ave and Ash Street in Brooklyn. No formal request made to EPA.
